

TRUE WEST TRUE WEST

San Francisco Mix

"I have more of a masculine, bold, industrial aesthetic, and her style is more feminine, glam, Hollywood Regency," says designer Will Wick, of his partnership with antiques dealer Gabriella Sarlo (right, with Wick) in their San Francisco showroom, Sarlo Wick. "The juxtaposition of the rustic and refined just works." The two carry mainly twentieth-century furnishings and accessories. SARLO WICK, 297 KANSAS ST., SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94103, 415.863.2002, WWW.SARLOWICK.COM

Outdoor Introduction Heltzer's new Great Lakes furniture collection by Seattle interior designer Terry Hunziker takes style outside. The pieces, including the Two Seat Lounger (above), have an aluminum frame with inlays of Ecoplex, a weather-resistant resin composite. HELTZER, 877.561.5612, WWW.HELZTER.COM

Cushion Couture

Los Angeles designer Kevin Corn marries vintage fabric with hand-screened images to create his debut line of pillows (below). Each signed and numbered design is available in editions of four or fewer, and sells for $425. KEVIN CORN DESIGN, WWW.KEVINCORNDDESIGN.COM

L.A. Eclectic

"I like things with longevity and some history," says Los Angeles designer Gary Gibson (far left). This sentiment informs the curated mix in his shop, Gibson, where his Gibson Studio furniture line is shown with vintage pieces, Larsen textiles, art and found objects in a new, larger location (left). GIBSON, 7350 BEVERLY BLVD., LOS ANGELES, CA 90036, 323.934.4248, WWW.GARYGIBSON.COM

